EASTER SUNDAY of the RESURRECTION of the LORD

Year C — 17th April 2022

The community of the Cathedral of St. Stephen acknowledges the traditional custodians of the land on which our parish stands.

Readings for today: Acts 10:34, 37-43; 1 Corinthians 5:6-8; John 20:1-9

THE ARCHBISHOP OF BRISBANE

Easter isn't once upon a time. It's either here and now or nowhere and never. It speaks of a love which is stronger than death; and that love can never be just once upon a time. Because Easter is here and now it is never in a vacuum.

This year we celebrate Easter in very particular circumstances. We light the Easter fire in gloomy times. First we had the pandemic, and that has been bad enough. Lives were lost, the social fabric frayed and the economy was hit hard. We saw the powers of death at work in ways we'd never seen before. Then we had the floods. Again lives were lost, homes were destroyed and property devastated. Here the powers of death struck in a way we'd seen before in this part of the world, only a few years back. On top of all that we now have the genocidal war in Ukraine, with world peace looking more fragile than it's looked for a long time. The powers of death which so ravaged Europe in the last century have returned in a horrific way. So the forces that gathered around Jesus on the dark mountain of Calvary gather around us too.

We may prefer to celebrate Easter in brighter times, but that's not what's given to us this year. As we gather to light the Easter fire in the darkness, we proclaim that out of the pandemic, the floods and the war new life can come and will come, just as Jesus walked from the tomb into every time and place. That's the hope which nothing and no-one can destroy. That's the truth of Easter; and, as Pope Francis has said, that truth is found everywhere by those who have eyes to see:

Christ's resurrection is not an event of the past; it contains a vital power which has permeated this world. Where all seems to be dead, signs of the resurrection suddenly spring up. It is an irresistible force. Often it seems that God does not exist: all around us we see persistent injustice, evil, indifference and cruelty. But it is also true that in the midst of darkness something new always springs to life and sooner or later produces fruit. Each day in our world beauty is born anew; it rises transformed through the storms of history, and human beings have arisen time after time from situations that seemed doomed (Evangelii Gaudium, 276).

Sequence

Christians,
to the Paschal Victim offer sacrifice and praise.
The sheep are ransomed by the Lamb;
and Christ, the undefiled,
hath sinners to his Father reconciled.
Death with life contended: combat strangely ended!
Life's own Champion, slain, yet lives to reign.
Tell us, Mary: say what thou didst see upon the way.
The tomb the Living did enclose;
I saw Christ's glory as he rose!
The angels there attesting;
shroud with grave-clothes resting.
Christ, my hope, has risen:
he goes before you into Galilee.
That Christ is truly risen from the dead we know.
Victorious king, thy mercy show!

Alleluia, alleluia!
Christ has become our paschal sacrifice;
let us feast with joy in the Lord.
Alleluia!

Thank you to the Cathedral Musicians

A big thank you to all involved in music at the Cathedral and St Patrick's for their biggest week of the liturgical year. For two of our long-serving and gifted musicians, this has been their final Holy Week serving our community:

Tom McCarthy has led the Chorale for the past few years, and had his final regular liturgy on Good Friday as the ensemble's conductor. Involved with Cathedral Music making for many years as member of the Cathedral Choir and as cantor, his friendly nature and dedication have been appreciated by all.

Margaret McNickle has served our community as organist for the past four decades in a variety of guises: for many years as the Saturday Vigil organist in the Cathedral, and from 2001 as 9am Organist at St Patrick's. Margaret's final Sunday with us will be next Sunday (April 24). Her commitment and talent will be missed.

'Notes for Notes': Cathedral Organ Repairs

The campaign has begun to raise funds to restore our Cathedral Jubilee Pipe Organ, which was badly damaged in the recent deluge. It will be out of action for some time while repairs are made.

To get our instrument playing again, a campaign to help cover costs has been launched, 'notes for notes'. Can you help? Envelopes are available in the Cathedral, and can be left in the collection plates, or at the Cathedral Office.

The Cathedral of St Stephen invites you to an
